Overview

Vitality Living is a senior living provider whose mission is to create vibrant communities where residents, families, and team members can be themselves, live purposefully, and experience a profound sense of belonging. Their goal is to create communities that empower individual choices, create environments where all residents thrive, and eliminate stereotypes with aging.

While together at a conference, Julie Podewitz, Vitality Living's Chief Sales Officer and CEO of Grow Your Occupancy, and Eversound's Co-Founder, Matt Reiners discussed the fact that over 80% of prospective residents are challenged with hearing impairment. Julie recognized the opportunity for competitive differentiate by having Vitality Living's Sales/Marketing teams emphasize how they use Eversound and to use the Eversound system during tours and home visits. Together they pulled together a study to test the hypothesis that communities with Eversound's wireless headphone system could improve key sales conversion metrics like, Lead to Tour and Tour to Move-in Ratios.

“My mother is 89 years old and has a number of disabilities, the most isolating of which is her difficulty with hearing loss. She is often left out of group conversations, with nearly equal challenges with one-on-one interaction...The Eversound system is one of the benefits that appealed to me and contributed to my decision in choosing this community for my mother's home.”

Study Design

Eversound sent its 2-Headphone Sales & Marketing Package to a test group of seven (7) Vitality Living communities for use during resident tours. Eversound proceeded to train key staff on usage and provided talk tracks for sales/marketing directors to introduce Eversound to prospects and families. The test group was encouraged to use Eversound during all tours as well as home visits, if needed. The study was conducted over a period of three months..

During this period, the Life Enrichment teams at these 7 communities were also provided their own Eversound Activity Package (10-headphone system) to be used as a tool to help improve resident's quality of life through programming and communication.

At the conclusion of the three-month test, data was collected from Vitality Living's customer relationship management (CRM) system to compare key sales metrics from the seven community test group against the other 21 Vitality Living communities that did not have Eversound during the same period.

Results

At the conclusion of the study, the data collected from Vitality Living's CRM system provided the following insights:

Group	New Leads	Prospects	Tours	Sales	Move-ins
Eversound pilot per community	134	119.5	60.5	17.1	14.9
Control group per community	116	112.8	57.5	12.2	9.9
Company (all) per community	121	112.5	57.6	13.1	10.8

Group	Lead to Prospect	Prospect to Tour	Tour to Sale	Tour to Move-in
Eversound pilot	89%	51%	28%	25%
Company (all)	93%	51%	23%	19%
Control group	97%	51%	21%	17%

Data Summary

The data provided by Vitality Living demonstrated that having Eversound's wireless headphone systems within the community does improve move-in rates.

Observations to Highlight:

Move-Ins

 33.56% more compared to the control group

Tour-To-Sale Ratio

 25% increase compared to the control group

Tour-To-Move-In Ratio

 32% increase compared to the control group

Conclusions

This three-month study demonstrated that utilizing the Eversound wireless headphone system during the sales process resulted in more move-ins than the control group. When looking at Vitality's sales data from the study period, Eversound helped drive 4-5 new move-ins over the course of three months in 7 communities. Based on these numbers, it can be extrapolated that Eversound can help drive approximately 3 additional move-ins per community per year.

At an average cost of $260/mo for the basic Eversound package, the return on investment (ROI) speaks for itself. Leveraging Eversound further differentiates Vitality's communities in providing opportunities for residents living with hearing impairment to feel part of their Vitality community!
